Apply for one of the limited places in our free online course starting February 2018

You’re studying or working at a university? You’re passionate about sustainability and want to make a difference? By starting a Green Office (GO), you can inform, connect and support students and staff to act on sustainability at your university.

What’s in it for you?

- Learn from the experts on how to establish your GO in less time and in an effective way
- Get in-depth guidance on what steps to take and what mistakes to avoid
- Create a visible legacy by starting your GO
- Exchange ideas with fellow change makers and support each other
- Acquire practical skills in sustainability, fundraising and leadership that will be valuable in your career

The programme

By joining this course, you read through the course modules and discuss your approach in six calls:

1. Get to know the GO Model and Movement (21.02.2018)
2. Start an initiative of students and staff, and build a community of supporters for your GO idea (07.03.2018)
3. Discover and analyse existing sustainability efforts to understand what is going well and what could be improved (21.03.2018)
4. Develop the goals and structure of your GO (11.04.2018)
5. Find funding and write your funding application (25.04.2018)
6. Pitch your ideas to convince university management (09.05.2018)

Learn more and apply until 14.02.18

The tutors

Felix Spira co-founded the first Green Office at Maastricht University and supported students and staff to establish GOs at over 30 institutions in six European countries.

Anselm Grahl worked as the longest-serving Green Office employee at the Maastricht University Green Office, leading the team and working on sustainability reporting.